ley branch. Discussing this subject, a member of the firm said yesterday:

"It is a shame that the Chesapeake and Ohio and the Baltimore and Ohio are not required to make a connection at Staunton for points in the lower Valley, instead of subjecting the public such delay and inconvenience as now. Either the Chesapeake and Ohio should be required to run an earlier train from here or the Baltimore and Ohio should run a later one from Staunton, so that persons going from Richmond might reach Harrisonburg and other Valley points the same day. As it is I do not doubt that one can go from Richmond to New York or to Cheinnati more quickly than from Richmond to Harrisonburg or other points in the lower Valley.

"Railroads are common carriers, operating the interest of the public, and risonburg or other points in the lower Vailey.

"Railroads are common carriers, operated in the interest of the public, and can be required to make connections and to provide the public better transportation. Suppose all the railroads should get at longerheads and ignore connections, at junction points. What sort of a condition would result. Why, it would not be tolerated. Yet, if the Chesapeake and Ohio and the Baltimore and Ohio may refuse to connect, why not all the others? The State Corporation Commission should compel better service and connections. Their powers do not extend to interstate traffic, but intra-State traffic is entirely within their province and miny be regulated by them.

traffe, but intra-card may be regulated by them.

"It would be very desirable to have a train for the West vin out of Richmond earlier in the morning, so that business men destring to so to any point between here and Staunton, for instance, night go and return the same day. He could make "roints between here and that city, transact his business in a few hours and roturn on an evening train, or a train reaching this city at 10 or 10:30 P. At A train into the city in the morning and another out in the morning and back in the evening would be very desirable."

Mr. Freeman's Views.

Mr. Freeman's Views.

Mr. Freeman's Views.

"It is of the utmost importence," said Mr. John C. Freeman, of the large wholesale firm of Drewry. Hughes and Company, speaking of the desirability of an early train out of Richmond over the Chesspeake and Ohlo Railway and better train facilities generally. I am a member of a committee of the Chamber of Commerce, which is at work on that very subject now. Where the newspapers of a city size read the people patronize the merchants of that city.

"We have already very good freight facilities for reaching points in the Valley. What we need is a passenger train service that will enable the merchants to come to Richmond and get back home without too much expense and loss of time. If we can get that, we can get the business of the Valley and of points in Northern Virginia, that now deal with Fallimore. Take Harrisonburg for instance; it is as near Richmond as it is Washington; yet the trade of the Valley goes to Ballimore, because the Baltimore papers reach that section far ahead of the Richmond papers and because they can get to Baltimore and return to their homes more quickly than to Richmond. Now is an especially opportune moment for Richmond to reach out after this trade, which has for years been going to Baltimore, and with satisfactory schedules to end from the Valley, we could get a hold there that would bring much of the business of the Valley and of Northern Virginia points to Richmond."

Mr. L. Za Morris, of Fleisman & Mor-

bring much of Northern Virginia points to Richmond."

Mr. L. Zh Morris, of Fleishman & Morris, and former president of the Chamber of Commerce, said when the subject of better passenger train and mail service out of Richmond was mentioned: "I am hearilly in accord with the movement, and have always been. It am on record while president of the Chamber, as favoring an early train out, of Richmond, carrying the Richmond papers, and I am just as earnestly an advocate of it now as then. Trade follows the newspapers. Wherever the newspapers of Richmond are read, this city gets the trade of that section. This is true, wherever a city has a newspaper that is worth anything, and I believe our papers are. Give userly trains out over all the roads. During my official connection with the Chamber of the contraction of the contracti ling my official connection with the Cham-her we succeeded in having an early train for the west out of this city, and I would like to see & restored. It would greatly help the city of Richmond, and the increased traille and travel would help the railways.

"You may say that I am he rilly in favor of an early train that will take the newspapers of Richmond to every point ahead of those of competing cities."

Great Convenience.

Mr. C. B. Alfrim, of C. W. Antrim's

Bons, expressed himself in favor of better train service out of Richmond, "It would train service out of Richmond. "It would certainly be a convenience to men having business at points west of this city, if they could get a train out of Richmond, and get back the same day. We fre-quently have to go to Wayneshoro and other points on business. An earlier their business in cities and towns on the Chesapeake and Ohio and return that evening."

Mr. Egbert G. Leigh, of the Southern Mr. Egbert G. Leigh, of the Southern Manufacturing Company, and president of the Chamber of Commerce, was absent from the cley where a reporter called, and will probably be out of town all this week. Mr. Leigh is known to favor better train schedules, and trains more advantageous and convenient to Richmond, and is working through the Chamber of Commerce to secure them.

There was much discussion before the game as to the eligibility of Dennie, who was to pitch for the home team. The visitors charged blm with professionalism, as it was said that he had played professional ball in Newport News. However, he was allowed to play the game.

The visitors batted Dennie heavily at critical points of the game. The features of the contest were the timely batting and base running of 1, B. Walters and the fast fielding of the William and Mary aggregation. The score in detail is as follows:

IMPORTANT DECISION.

Supreme Court Decides Against Publishing Houses.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 11.—The United States Supreme Court to-day decided that books published periodically are not entitled to transmission through the mails as second-class mail matter. The opinion was delivered by Justice Brown, and covered three cases against the Postmaster-General, instituted respectively by Houghtn, Mifflin and Company, Osmond G. Smith and Bates and Guild. The Chief Justice and Justice Harlan disented.

The Chief Justice and Justice Harian dissented.

For sixteen years and under eleven Postmaster-Generals these publications were carried as second-class matter, though under protest from the department, which made many efforts to have the law modified or repealed, but without success. Failing in this, the Postmaster-General issued orders in 1902 excluding the books from the second-class rate. Thereupon the matter was taken to the courts, the effect being that the Postmaster-General was sustained by the final decision, as rendered to-day.

Rev. James A. Spiers Dead.

Rev. James A. Spiers, a well known minister of Prince George county, died recently at his home in that county, near Taipa postofiles, aged sixty years. He is survived by several children, among whom are Mrs. Mary H. Russell, formerly of this city, and prior to that time a resident of Norfolk and Danville. He was well and widely known in Southside Virginia,

Tragle has a new store now. No. 21
West Broad Street is the location. One of the means of getting the old and the new stores talked about is the introduction to the community of "Cy Hawkins," a country lay, who has led many astray.

ACCURATE TIME.

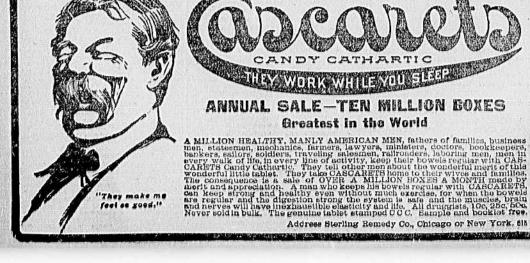

No matter how fine a timepiece you may have -if it fails to keep time, it misses its object and purpose. The timepieces we sell are "beauties;" you cannot help falling in love with them on sight. Even their beauty does not detract from their goodness-they are correct time-keepers.

This is saying a lot, but we mean every word of that statement.
